Emma Bearman is a freelance photographer based in the Warwickshire countryside. Emma’s photographs of her beloved canine pal ‘Alfie Bear’, quickly turned into a full-time job and fully functioning online blog with thousands of fans visiting www.alfiebear.com.

Karen and Andrew Jones own and manage Coast & Country Cottages - their six year old Cockapoo, Archie, who often accompanies them to the office, is very much part of the team. Through Archie they have discovered many of the wonderful walks and fabulous dog-friendly places to eat in and around the South Hams.

I’m Alfie, an English Springer Spaniel... Water obsessed and beach mad! I am always on the road with my human, sniffing out the very best in all things dog-friendly. Being a famous blogger allows me and my best friend Emma to travel around the country, going to prestigious events such as Crufts and staying in luxury properties like Poll Cottage in the heart of Salcombe. Together, Emma and I find our favourite dog-friendly locations, that our followers love to read about.

Personally, I love Devon; it is the perfect place for a doggy holiday. With so many beaches to explore, I know I will have the best adventures. We always have to take a trip to East Portlemouth, with miles of sandy beach and endless swimming. I love stopping at our favourite pub, The Victoria Inn, for a bite to eat on the way home.

We know how lucky we are to live and work in this Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and have always enjoyed walking locally - with Archie we have even more reasons to explore our beautiful beaches and glorious countryside, soaking up the spectacular scenery and stunning views!

We love walking along the South West Coast Path from South Milton Sands to Bantham and back, stopping at The Sloop or The Village Inn at Thurlestone, both of which serve great food and welcome Archie! Walking to Hope Cove is another favourite – The Cove Café Bar is dog-friendly and serves good beer! Our regular Sunday morning walk in Salcombe takes us down to North Sands, where Archie loves swimming in the sea – on sunny days we enjoy a coffee outside at the Winking Prawn or walk back to dog-friendly Sailor V in Salcombe’s Fore Street.

Away from the coast, Archie loves the walk along the River Avon, past the Victorian disused railway line and through the woods near Avon Mill. With coffee or lunch at either Avon Mill or Aune Valley, both boasting dog-friendly cafés and fabulous food, we rather enjoy it too!

Coast & Country Cottages: Most visitors to South Devon come by car. What advice would you give to drivers about travelling with their dogs?

Will McMullan: Dogs are generally very happy to travel by car but some suffer from motion sickness. If your dog does, it’s best to speak to your vet about how to overcome this treatable problem. Just like humans, dogs benefit from comfort breaks to eat, drink, go to the toilet and/or stretch their legs every two to three hours while travelling.

Everyone has heard of dogs overheating in parked cars, but we have also seen a few cases of heat-stroke in dogs that have been travelling in cars with their owners. So on hot days remember that dogs can still get very hot while a car is moving.

The Highway Code states that dogs should be ‘suitably restrained’ while travelling in cars. This can be achieved using harnesses, cages or dog guards. If a dog were not suitably restrained and distracted the driver leading to an accident, this could be considered ‘driving without due care and attention’. We have also seen some very serious injuries such as broken necks in dogs that had not been restrained in cars that had accidents. So we would always advise using a restraint while travelling.

Vet’s Tips

In the vast majority of cases, holidays with our four-legged friends are joyful and incident-free, but unfamiliar environments can present different risks from those your dog faces back home. We caught up with Will McMullan, a vet from South Moor Vets, based in Kingsbridge, Ivybridge and Modbury, to find out how to ensure your dog stays happy and healthy throughout your break.

It’s very common to see dog-owners throwing sticks on the beach. Is it true that this can be dangerous?

We regularly see very serious injuries in dogs that have been chasing sticks or running with sticks in their mouths. These occur when the stick hits the ground and the dog continues running, so that the stick is forced into the back of the dog’s mouth. We have removed lengths of stick over 30 cm in length from some dogs’ throats and treated many injuries to the organs of the throat and chest caused by sticks.

We even once saw a dog who managed to get a stick forced from his mouth through both his chest and abdomen. It was around 80 cm long and required emergency surgery to remove it and deal with the damage.

Our advice is to NEVER throw sticks for dogs, and to use rubber balls or throwing toys instead.

When it comes to food, it’s tempting to give our dogs (and ourselves!) lots of extra treats on holiday, giving them even cakes and sweets for example. Is this advisable?

With our vet hats on we would love to tell everyone not to give their dogs any human food. But we know that everyone loves to treat their furry friends and we even... sometimes do it ourselves. Small amounts of human food are unlikely to lead to major problems, unless your dog has a very sensitive gut. There are exceptions though – chocolate and grapes are poisonous to dogs, sometimes even in very small quantities, and should be avoided totally. Some dogs are quite sensitive to dairy and things like ice cream could upset their digestive system.

Remember too that any change in diet can cause transient diarrhoea of a few days duration. Something we often see in the summer are dogs that have eaten wooden skewers at barbeques, which can cause serious damage to their intestines. Remember not to leave these lying around if barbecuing.

Especially in the summer, many holidaymakers are keen to get as much sun as possible. Do our hot days pose any risks to dogs?

We do sometimes get very warm weather during the summer, and when this happens we just know we’re going to see some cases of heat stroke. Most occur when dogs are left in hot cars, but it can also be seen in dogs that have been outside in hot sunshine for prolonged periods, or in dogs that have done a lot of exercise on a hot day.

Remember that dogs are more sensitive to heat than most humans, and on warm days (it doesn’t have to be a heatwave), don’t leave them in cars, conservatories, take them to the beach or for very long walks. Try to exercise them early or late in the day, and provide plenty of cool, fresh water. Ice cubes make a fantastic treat. If you think your dog may be suffering from heat stroke, cool them down with cold water, and get them to a vet immediately.

We have some gloriously remote stretches of Coast Path in the South Devon, not to mention nearby Dartmoor National Park. Dog-owners coming from more built-up areas could find themselves in some unfamiliar environments with their pets – do you have any advice?

Find out more about South Moor Vets at: southmoorvets.co.uk.

“try to keep your pet’s routine as similar to home as you can”

If coming to the countryside from a town, there are certain hazards to be aware of that you may not encounter at home. Ticks are more prevalent by the coast and on Dartmoor, so before leaving ask your vet for some appropriate preventative treatment. If you notice ticks on your dog, they can be removed easily with a small plastic tool, or by a vet or veterinary nurse. If your dog will be swimming in rivers or lakes, ensure it is fully vaccinated as leptospirosis infection is a risk in areas with a lot of wildlife.

We occasionally see adder bites in dogs that have been playing in long grass or areas populated by adders such as sand dunes along the coast path. If you notice anything you suspect to be a snake bite or any unexplained swellings or wounds on your dog, get them checked by a vet immediately.

Another hazard holidaymakers sometimes do not appreciate fully is the danger posed by cliffs while walking along the coast path. We see dogs every year that have fallen off cliffs, often falling 50-100 ft, suffering life-threatening injuries or fatalities. If your dog is prone to not looking where they are going, keep them on a lead near cliffs.

We sometimes see dogs that have eaten a lot of seaweed, or even that have been eating sand, and both can cause serious intestinal problems, so keep an eye on what your dog is doing on the beach while you sunbathe!

Do you have any final tips for holidaymakers bringing their dogs to Devon?

It’s a good idea to look up the local veterinary surgery near where you will be holidaying and have their number to hand in case of emergencies. Humans on holiday often eat and drink a lot differently than they do at home. This doesn’t necessarily translate well to animals, so try to keep your pet’s routine as similar to home as you can, unless you don’t mind clearing up the mess afterwards!

Accommodation is always an important factor, especially when you are travelling with your four-legged friend. After a lot of searching we found the charismatic Poll Cottage. Just a short walk from the main high street I knew we were on to a winner. You didn’t have to venture far to get to the hustle and bustle of Salcombe life.

Poll Cottage sleeps six across three bedrooms, perfect for a group of couples or a great family holiday. Light and spacious, it will make you feel instantly at home. The cottage itself was well equipped with all the kitchen essentials, modern comforts and ample room. Alfie soon found his spot in front of the fire, perfect for warming up after a swim in the sea.

Just a short walk from Poll Cottage was the ferry stop which takes you across to East Portlemouth, one of our favourite beaches. East Portlemouth is a more secluded beach made up of three coves, Fishermans Cove, Smalls Cove and Mill Bay. All three are dog-friendly all year round, so you can take a walk along the coastline before finding the ideal spot to make base.

Alfie loves the beach and the moment his feet touch the sand he is looking for the nearest bit of water - It doesn’t matter what time of year it is! If he is not splashing about in the water he will be digging his way to China (metaphorically speaking).

Salcombe has a number of local beaches which are well worth a visit. I highly recommend heading to North Sands Beach for your morning walk where you must stop for breakfast at The Winking Prawn! Their all-you-can-eat breakfast buffet is delicious - you can also bring your dog in to dine with you: Alfie always insists on a sausage.

Another beach I love is Hope Cove. Just a short drive from Salcombe, it is made up of two sandy beaches. The smaller beach has a seasonal dog ban but the longer Harbour Beach allows you to take your dog all year round. The coves are perfect for all beach activities or if you are an Alf, there are some great swimming spots.
When it comes to places to eat in Salcombe, look no further than The Victoria Inn. One of my all time favourites and possibly one of the most dog-friendly restaurants I have been to. The food is divine, all locally sourced from the sea or Devon’s beautiful countryside.

Your dogs are well looked after too. Alfie could not wait to check out their “A La Bark Menu” - there is a whole selection of yummy treats your dog will love. Something I love more is that all proceeds from the menu go to charity. So far they have raised over £4,000 for Hearing Dogs for Deaf People.

A must for us in Salcombe was a trip to Dartmouth, another beautiful seaside town, with the most adorable colourful houses and a whole range of dog-friendly restaurants. I recommend taking the ferry from Dartmouth Castle. Alfie just loves a ride on the ferry - he stands there taking in all the views with the wind blowing in his ears... So adorable.

I hope you have enjoyed a little insight into our trip to Salcombe, a must for any dog owner.

“I highly recommend heading to North Sands beach for your morning walk where you must stop for breakfast at The Winking Prawn!”

SALCOMBE, SOUTH DEVON
It’s plain sailing for pet owners in Salcombe

Take a special break in Salcombe with your four-legged family member, exploring its picturesque streets or soaking up the atmosphere in one of the traditional pet-friendly pubs. These include The Ferry Inn, where bowls of water and treats are made available, and the Victoria Inn, where the menu even includes doggie beer and pigs’ ears!

North Sands beach, a 20-minute walk from the centre of Salcombe, is dog-friendly all year round, as is the beachside Winking Prawn restaurant. A short walk from this lovely sheltered beach, you’ll find the equally picturesque South Sands (dog-friendly out of season). You can reach this sandy cove via the colourful South Sands Ferry, where dogs are welcome aboard. Or cross the water to East Portlemouth on the passenger ferry for even more dog-friendly beaches to explore.

Looking to get on the water? Local instructor ‘Scratch’ Hitchen will take you out on a Salcombe Yawl and show you the ropes while you bring your dogs along for the ride.

As well as these fantastic dog-friendly attractions, Salcombe boasts an extensive range of pet-friendly holiday accommodation.

SUN, SEA... AND SALTY DOGS!
South Devon’s finest Fido-friendly beaches

Our region boasts an impressive variety of dog-friendly beaches. These range from expansive, fine shingle bays with fantastic facilities, all the way to wonderfully secluded little coves that can only be reached on foot.
A ball’s throw from Salcombe

Stunning sandy beaches in easy reach of this scenic harbour town

EAST PORTLEMOUTH

Across the crystal waters of the Kingsbridge Estuary, the dog-friendly beaches of East Portlemouth are just a short hop on the passenger ferry from picturesque Salcombe.

These beautiful sandy beaches are served by a popular Venus Takeaway, famed for its fresh, tasty and mostly locally-sourced food and drink. Often surprisingly quiet, even during South Devon’s busiest holiday periods, these delightful coves are always worth a visit with the dog. The shallow, sheltered waters of the estuary make them great for swimming too.

NORTH SANDS

About a mile from Salcombe, North Sands is also dog-friendly all-year-round. The same is true of the beachside Winking Prawn restaurant, which welcomes four-legged customers if they’re clean, well-behaved and remain seated with their owners.

SOUTH SANDS

Another 10 minutes walk south, you’ll come to South Sands, which is seasonally dog-friendly and accessible from Salcombe via the popular South Sands ferry – a fun way to make the journey for those who don’t fancy the two-mile walk.
Strolling around Start Bay with the pooch

Breathtaking beaches close to Dartmouth and Kingsbridge

Start Bay is a 15-mile stretch of coastline, which runs from Warren Point (just south of Dartmouth) down to Start Point and its iconic lighthouse. It’s a much-loved part of South Devon amongst visitors and residents alike, boasting wonderful views, numerous sites of historic and natural interest, unforgettable walking trails and some renowned pubs and restaurants. Most of Start Bay’s beaches are dog-friendly, including:

SLAPTON SANDS

Slapton Sands is a three-mile stretch of fine-shingle beach, incorporating Strete Gate in the north and Torcross Beach at the southern edge. There’s ample parking and some excellent eateries, and it’s an ideal spot for a picturesque, level walk. At the Torcross end, the Boathouse Restaurant is dog-friendly, whilst the Start Bay Inn permits dogs in the beer garden.

BEESANDS

Beesands is a mile-long fine shingle beach just south of Torcross on the South West Coast Path. As well as an expansive beach for you and your dog to enjoy, there are very good facilities, including the dog-friendly Britannia @ The Beach – a great spot for a locally-sourced bite and The Cricket Inn (dog-friendly in the bar area).

HALLSANDS

Hallsands is a small fine shingle beach a little over a mile from Beesands (on foot). This ever-changing stretch of coastline has a fascinating history, which illustrates both the awesome power of the sea and the strength of the human spirit. When the village of South Hallsands was destroyed in the Great Storm of 1917, two sisters, Patience and Ella Trout, used their meagre compensation and a bank loan to build Prospect House. Their hotel thrived for 30 years before being redeveloped into a complex of stylish holiday apartments.
Escaping the rat race with Rover
Discovering our more secluded dog-friendly beaches

There’s little more exhilarating for a walker than spotting a secret cove hiding between craggy headlands, its secrets safe from the fleeting glances of most passers-by. Thousands of walkers from Dartmouth to Blackpool Sands must have missed Sugary Cove or Compass Cove for example, both just a tiny detour from the main trail.

The delights of discovering the most unspoilt sections of the South West Coast Path are open to dog walkers, too, as most of our more remote beaches are dog-friendly. These include:

LANNACOMBE BEACH & MATTISCOMBE SANDS

To the west of Start Point, Lannacombe Beach and Mattiscombe Sands are two beautiful beaches on a particularly rugged stretch of the South Devon coastline. If you don’t mind tackling some serious hills, you’ll find the scenery is truly breathtaking.

GARA ROCK BEACH

Gara Rock Beach is a 15-minute walk from the car park at Mill Bay (East Portlemouth) across the Kingsbridge Estuary from Salcombe. This is a gloriously secluded beach that makes an ideal jaunt for you and your four-legged friend.

AYRMER COVE & WESTCOMBE BEACH

Ayrmer Cove and Westcombe Beach are two dog-friendly coves to the north of Bigbury-On-Sea and Challaborough Beach. Enjoy stunning views of Burgh Island from this magnificent (if at times challenging!) walking trail.

SUGARY COVE & COMPASS COVE

Sugary Cove sits less than half a mile from Dartmouth Castle. Accessed by a steep, winding downhill path through thick forest, it’s an easy beach to miss. The same is true of Compass Cove, which you’ll find almost directly beneath Little Dartmouth (a tiny hamlet at the top of Castle Road above Dartmouth Castle).

For more information about South Devon’s best beaches, including where to find them and what you can do there, browse our South Devon Beach Bible at: coastandcountry.co.uk/beaches/blog/south-devon-beach-bible/

South Devon is home to a number of dogs that, over time, have not only become legendary amongst locals and holiday makers alike, but have also become mascots for the businesses they call home. ARCHIE

Coast & Country Cottages

Archie, the six-year-old Cockapoo, is a happy member of the Coast & Country Cottages team. Owned by Directors Andrew and Karen Jones, Archie is often found relaxing in the Salcombe office, merrily greeting guests arriving to collect their keys, and gazing happily out of the window at the picturesque Salcombe Estuary.

Owner Karen says “The walking opportunities here are endless, but there are a couple we favour outside work. The first is the walk along the coast path at Thurlestone. With stunning views over Bigbury Bay, and plenty of interesting sights and smells for Archie to enjoy, the whole family love this route.”

“Another favourite is the walk from Thurlestone to Hope Cove, passing the iconic ‘Thurlestone Rock’ and the former sea captain’s home Drake House along the way. We like to stop at The Cove, a delightful pet-friendly café in Hope Cove, for a refreshing pint of Otter ale before journeying back along the coastline”.

Pop in to the Coast & Country Cottages office at Hannaford’s Landing, Island Street, Salcombe and pick up a free copy of the 2017 view brochure – you might even meet Archie too!

SOCKET

Simon Drew Gallery

If you are strolling along Foss Street in Dartmouth, why not visit the art gallery and shop run by artist Simon Drew and his wife Caroline, along with their Collie/Springer Spaniel cross called Socket. The small two-year-old dog was born and bred locally, and came from a farm in the nearby village of Blackawton. According to Simon ‘she is an affectionate and biddable creature, eager to please’, spending every work day in the shop with the team.

Socket is a huge fan of long walks – a favourite of hers is through Gallants Bower near Dartmouth Castle, up to the old civil war fort at the top. She also enjoys a wander along the cliff path near Little Dartmouth, or a stroll through Dyer’s Wood.

Socket has been the inspiration for some of Simon’s art, including ‘Every day is a Chewsday’. The Dartmouth shop stocks Simon’s original pictures, as well as his prints, greetings cards, ceramics and the many different products on which his designs feature. Why not pop in and say hello? Socket can be a little timid at times, but is always pleased to see people!
Iconic Devon dogs

NELLIE & EVIE
Amelia’s Attic

This duo of posh pooches can often be found in the boutique clothing shop Amelia’s Attic on Fore Street in Salcombe, owned by Karen Woodley and Cheska Hull. Nellie and Evie are both six years old, and adore being the centre of attention, meeting and greeting customers. Evie, seen here on her very own throne in Amelia’s Attic, is a rescue dog from Battersea Dogs Home, and according to Cheska can be ‘a bit of a diva’, having previously appeared on many ‘Made in Chelsea’ episodes! She is often seen performing tricks for shoppers in exchange for a treat. Both dogs love walking at North Sands, followed by a trip to The Winking Prawn.

Cheska says ‘Evie’s favourite pub is The Victoria Inn in Salcombe, they have recently been awarded as one of the most dog-friendly establishments in the South West and serve doggy beer and pig’s ears next to a roaring fire – it’s doggy heaven!’

Amelia’s Attic stocks a fabulous range of glamorous dog accessories, as well as an extensive range of boutique clothing, gifts and jewellery.

FRODO
Salcombe foot passenger ferry

Perhaps one of the hardest working dogs in the area is Frodo, the 13-year-old Spaniel who has spent the last 12 years of his life cruising the Salcombe Estuary aboard the Salcombe Foot Passenger Ferry. Frodo and his owner Tricky Clayton, who has worked on the ferry since 1997, run the service in all weathers. Always pleased to see visitors, Frodo has become a permanent fixture on the small boat, and has made some firm friends over the years, both with locals who use the ferry daily, and with visitors who return for their holiday year after year.

Tricky says ‘When Frodo isn’t at work, he just loves walking the cliff paths, or paying a visit to The Fortescue pub in Salcombe, one of his favourite haunts’.

This sea dog is never too far from the waves! Be sure to keep an eye out for him around Salcombe.

DARTMOUTH, SOUTH DEVON

It's a dog's life by the River Dart

Dartmouth makes a great base for holidaymakers who want to bring their four-legged friend along. You’ll find a plethora of pet-friendly pubs, cafés and restaurants in this historic harbour town, such as the Royal Castle Hotel’s two popular bars, Café Alf Resco and Saveurs.

Dartmouth’s location on the South West Coast Path and the Dart Valley Trail makes it wonderful for walking. Take your dog on a hike to Blue Flag-awarded Blackpool Sands (dog-friendly out of season) or alongside the River Dart through unspoilt forest and farmland to beautiful Dittisham. Shorter yet equally scenic walks include taking a trip to Dartmouth Castle or strolling along the Dartmouth Embankment to appreciate the harbour views.

Dartmouth Castle and the adjacent tea rooms are both dog-friendly, as is the Castle Ferry which will take you there from the Quay. You can hop across the water with your dog on any of the ferries and even catch the steam train to Paignton, which welcomes passengers with pets. All of Dartmouth’s river ferries are dog-friendly too, so you can enjoy a cruise up to Dittisham, Greenway or Totnes with your canine companion.

South Devon is home to a wonderful array of meandering footpaths and glorious coastal trails, just waiting to be explored by you and your dog. Whilst the majority of dog owners are responsible and respectful when visiting the countryside, we have put together a few suggestions on safely exploring the great outdoors with your dog, which might be a useful reminder of best practice doggie etiquette! These tips will help ensure both you and your canine friends have a fabulous time seeing this beautiful area on foot, without any hiccups along the way...

Here are just some of the things to consider:

1. Take control

First things first, Devon is 6,707 km² - it’s a BIG place! The very last thing you want to do is to lose your pet whilst out walking. With this in mind, keep your dog close by and under control at all times, ensuring its safety. South Devon is a beautiful area of countryside, where sheep, cattle and other livestock graze happily in the fields. If you are walking on footpaths where you come in to contact with these animals, always keep your dog on a short lead, remembering ‘livestock worrying’ is a criminal offence. Don’t put the livestock or your dog at risk and keep them under close control. Also, many areas including Dartmoor are home to countless ground nesting birds. Advice from the RSPB suggests keeping to paths to avoid disturbing any nests, particularly between March and July when most birds are sitting.

2. Plan your walks

With acres of rolling countryside as far as the eye can see, the beauty of this area is certainly alluring. Why not use the South West Coast Path website to help you plan your route? This will offer you inspiration, as it can be hard to know where to start exploring! Whilst it may seem obvious, ensure you stick to the signposted path, using the styles and gateways on the route. Always leave gates as you find them too, as gates being left unlatched can lead to livestock escaping.
3. ‘Mooo...vee’ slowly!

If you are new to walking in the countryside, it might come as a surprise to you that some animals can be very curious. Sometimes cattle are especially nosey and will come to investigate if you are walking in their field. If you are being followed by animals walk as calmly as possible out of their vicinity. Be aware that livestock can be very protective of their young. Never approach cattle or sheep with calves or lambs at foot, particularly if you have a dog with you.

4. Be healthy

Dogs can spread disease to livestock so ensure you clean up after your dog wherever you are, and prevent your dog from getting in to water troughs where animals drink. Responsible dog owners will ensure their animal is up-to-date with routine treatments including worming before going away, meaning the whole family can have a happy, healthy holiday!

South Devon is the perfect holiday destination for dogs and their owners alike. There are miles of unbroken trails on the South West Coast Path, perfect for exercising your canine companion and revelling in the stunning scenery. You can choose from a wide range of dog-friendly beaches, from remote coves like Mattiscombe Sands or Gara Rock Beach to bustling beauty spots with excellent facilities. These include North Sands near Salcombe, and Beesands and Slapton Sands on Start Bay.

Explore the region’s picturesque towns and villages, where you’ll find an extensive range of pet-friendly pubs, cafés and restaurants. Dartmouth, Salcombe and Kingsbridge are all havens for dog-lovers, and in the surrounding villages you’ll come across some other excellent options. For delicious food in a traditional village pub setting, pay a visit to the Fortescue Arms in East Allington or the Millbrook Inn in South Pool, for example.

Several dog-friendly ferries make their way up and down the River Dart or across the Kingsbridge Estuary, and both of South Devon’s steam trains are dog-friendly. National Trust and English Heritage sites such as Overbeck’s House, Greenway, and Totnes and Dartmouth Castle also welcome dogs without restriction or provide partial access.
